Collection Description

Historical and Biographical Information

The Acadian Archives was established in the 1990s and started in one room on the second floor of Blake Library. Hon. John L. Martin, Hon. Judy Paradis, and others wrote funding into law to build a space for the Acadian Archives with state of the art preservation rooms. In the early 2000s, the Archives was moved to its current space between Blake Library and Powell hall.

Scope and Content

The first image depicts Lisa Ornstein talking to a man who is facing away from the camera in front of a wall holding a bookshelf and window. [This room looks like the room on the second floor of Blake Library where the Acadian Archives was first housed before its current space was built but this isn't confirmed].

The second image depicts Lisa Ornstein and Guy Dubay with a third man who isn't identified. Lisa and one man are standing while the second man is sitting in a chair in front of a computer. Library stacks can be seen through the window and door behind them.

Arrangement

The two photographs are housed in one clear archival sleeve.
