How to Use This Guide

This collection consists of copies of a variety of different kinds of primary documents detailing the criminal career of Valley resident John M. Stadig. The documents were gathered by the Federal Bureau of Prisons from McNeil Island, Alcatraz Island, and Leavenworth penitentiaries, from the F.B.I., from the parole board, and from B.O.P. correspondence.

Given the complexity of this collection, you may wish to begin by reading the Summary on this page, which gives an overview of the collection. Next, a study of the Biographical Note on John M. Stadig (beginning on page 4) would probably be helpful.

Once you're grounded with an overview of Mr. Stadig's life and the provenance of this collection (additional information on provenance appears in the Provenance Note on page 5), the Folder Inventories should be a guide to specific items of interest. These Folder Inventories contain Item-level inventories of the documents which comprise this collection. They begin on page 7.

An Personal Name Index has been created of people identified as writer or recipient of documents in this collection. (NB: This is NOT an index of people mentioned in the documents.) The index can be found on pages 7 and 8.

The Acadian Archives / Archives acadiennes holds two other collections of Stadig-related materials. MCC-00191 consists of materials consulted by Darrell McBreairty in preparing his book Alcatraz Eel: the John Stadig Files (Allagash: McBreairty, 2005), including original recorded oral history interviews. MCC-00192 contains miscellaneous materials gathered by Archives staff on Stadig, including his records from Nevada State Prison.

Collection Summary

This finding aid provides information about 365 leaves of photocopied records from a number of Federal sources documenting the criminal career, imprisonment, and suicide of John M. Stadig. These documents were gathered by the Bureau of Prisons as part of its documentation of its use of Alcatraz Island as a Federal penitentiary from 1934 to 1963. Because these records had been separated out from other Federal inmate records, they survived the de-accessioning of inmate records carried out throughout the system. These “individual comprehensive inmate case files” of Alcatraz inmates thus provide a dossier on inmates who, like John Millage Stadig, were at any point in their prison career incarcerated at Alcatraz. NB: These records include documents relating to incarcerations at facilities other than Alcatraz Island.

Introduction. This collection consists of the “comprehensive inmate case file” for John Millage Stadig (1908-1936) of St. Francis ME, a counterfeiter and inmate in the Federal penitentiaries at McNeil Island WA, Alcatraz Island CA, and Leavenworth KS. The “comprehensive inmate files” were created by the Bureau of Prisons from records throughout the Federal prison system and are available only for prisoners who were, at some time in their career, incarcerated at Alcatraz.

Access: There are no restrictions on access to this collection.

Biographical Note. John Millage Stadig, the son of Nelson Lawrence Stadig and Caroline Alice “Carry” Jones, was born 16 December 1908 at Jemtland ME, an unincorporated community in the township of New Sweden ME. At some point, the family relocated to the Saint Francis ME / Connors NB area, where Lawrence Stadig died in 1909 or 1910. John Stadig was arrested for a number of minor crimes in Boston MA in June 1927; he was arrested in Saint Louis MO on more serious charges in November and December 1929. In June 1930 he was arrested in Connors NB for manufacture and possession of plates for making counterfeit U.S. treasury bills. He appears to have served two months of a six-month sentence at Edmundston NB. In November 1931, he was arrested on counterfeiting charges in Las Vegas NV and sentenced to 18 months at Nevada State Prison (as a Federal prisoner). He was paroled in December 1932.

Stadig served his parole at Saint Francis ME. Since there was no parole officer serving that area, Stadig was required to file written monthly reports. Although the reports are initially in Stadig’s handwriting, someone else appears to have begun filing the reports for Stadig in April 1933. In October 1933, while still apparently filing parole reports from Saint Francis, Stadig was arrested on counterfeiting charges in Chicago IL. Eleven days later, he escaped from the custody of U.S. marshals while being transported to court. In December 1933, he was arrested in San Francisco

CA, again on counterfeiting charges, and on 19 March 1934 he was sentenced to six years at the Federal penitentiary at McNeil Island WA.

He escaped from the penitentiary at McNeil Island in April 1934, but he was unable to get off the island and was recaptured after two days. He received an additional two years on his sentence in June 1934. That year the new "maximum security" Federal penitentiary at Alcatraz Island came into being. The plan was to house "problem inmates" from throughout the Federal prison system at Alcatraz, and so in mid-1934 the wardens at the various Federal institutions were invited to send their difficult custodial cases to the new prison. Stadig was transferred to Alcatraz in August 1934 as part of the initial contingent of prisoners sent to what came to be called "The Rock".

Stadig petitioned to appeal his conviction for the McNeil Island escape. This was a tactical error: the U.S. attorney for the District of Portland OR, where the appeal was to be heard, pressed for conviction on additional counterfeiting charges, and the court increased Stadig's sentence to 15 years. Facing such a lengthy sentence, Stadig escaped from the custody of U.S. marshals while en route back to Alcatraz. He dove through a train window and eluded capture for a week.

Returned to Alcatraz, Stadig continued to be a disciplinary problem. He made repeated efforts at suicide. He eventually was determined to be a risk to himself and was transferred to Leavenworth KS to be incarcerated at the penal hospital at Springfield KS. While at Leavenworth, Stadig made a final, successful attempt at suicide, slashing his jugular vein with a piece of glass broken from his spectacles. He died 24 September 1936.

Scope and Contents Note: The papers in this collection were photocopied at the Pacific Region office of the National Archives and Records Administration by the Archives' Assistant Director at San Bruno, California, in 2000. They represent all materials held at NARA San Bruno on John M. Stadig, except for one page from a separate collection of "Warden's Notebook Pages" which can be found in our related collection, MCC-00192 "John Millage Stadig Collection".

Materials in this collection include prison records, commitment and court records, identification and health records (including psychiatric reports), correspondence about Stadig from the Bureau of Prisons, the parole board, Federal and private attorneys, reports on Stadig's suicide, etc. They also include documents written by Stadig describing his life, work, and criminal experiences for consideration by the parole board in 1932.

This collection will be of interest to historians, penologists, and others.

Provenance Note. The papers in this collection were created by a variety of Federal offices and by private citizens. They were gathered by a number of Federal agencies, then brought into one single collection by the Federal Bureau of Prisons. They form part of the National Archives and Record Administration's Record Group 129: "Records of the Bureau of Prisons".

The photocopies which comprise this collection were made by AA/AA staff at the NARA facility at San Bruno (Pacific Region) in 2000. The NARA order and foldering was maintained.

Related Archival Collections and Publications. There are two other collections of documents on John Millage Stadig in the Archives:

MCC-00191 Darrell McBreairty: John M. Stadig Collection

A collection of materials gathered by Darrell McBreairty in preparing his book Alcatraz Eel: the John Stadig files (Allagash ME: McBreairty, 2005)

The collection includes tape-recorded interviews (with transcriptions) and other materials.

MCC-00192 John Millage Stadig Collection

This collection was gathered by AA/AA staff while assisting a variety of researchers (including, and primarily, Darrell McBreairty) interested in the Stadig story. It includes Stadig's Nevada State Prison records, a page from NARA's RG 129 "Warden's Notebook Pages" file, court filings for two criminal cases involving Stadig, an excerpt from Warden Johnston's book on his work at Alcatraz, etc.

There are two publications in the Archives' reference library which relate to John Stadig:

Arrangement Note. The documents in this collection represent the "comprehensive inmate case file" as it was presented at the National Archives and Records Administration in San Bruno CA. The documents were copied in the order in which they were presented, and were foldered in the same foldering. Although NARA staff were asked about original order and provenance, they had no information to offer.

The materials in this collection were presented in seven folders. While there is no clear sense of what sub-groupings each fold represents, there does appear to be some organizational coherence in some folders. The folders may represent separate collections created by separate agencies on Mr. Stadig and his activities. This is suggested by a comment made by the NARA processor for Record Group 129 (to which the comprehensive inmate files belong): "It must be remembered that these inmate files represent an artificial group of BOP [Bureau of Prisons] files from many different sites. The complexity of locating and assembling all the files involved records clerks at Federal prisons across the country."

For item-level inventories of each folder, see the Folder Indexes on pages 9 through 19.

For a Personal Name Index, see pages 7 and 8.

PERSONAL NAME INDEX

The following list of names was created from the folder inventories. It represents people writing reports, memos, or letters, and people to whom those reports, memos, and letters were addressed. NB: This list does not include all people mentioned in the documents, nor does it include anyone involved who neither wrote nor received one of the documents.

All people have been identified by their position held at the time of the document. In most cases, the position appears on the document itself; in a few instances (marked by question marks), some educated guessing was applied. Researchers are encouraged to confirm these identifications for themselves.
