Biographical information: The Fort Kent Lion's Club is dedicated to serving the community and their motto "We Serve" is proudly instilled in all of the members. The current club is made up of over 120 individuals ranging in age from 25 to 80, and is growing every year. The Fort Kent Lion's Club raises funds through volunteer work and fundraisers like the annual Pride of the Lions Show. All monies brought into the club go directly back to the community and surrounding areas for education, vision care, scholarships and other community projects.

Whether it be building a pavilion for the community, installing Christmas lights in town during the holidays, purchasing a pair of eye glasses for someone in need, or aiding a student on their way to higher education, the Fort Kent Lions Club is proud to serve.¹

The annual Pride of the Lions Show has been going on since 1982. The reason behind that fun is the fund-raising component of the Pride of Lions Show. The Lions can raise upwards of $20,000 over the course of three nights of performances. Members take part in impersonating political figures, actors, local people and agencies, etc. and material is inspired by current events and includes the return of some beloved characters from past shows. The biennial show has a history of causing audiences to roar with laughter at skits written and performed by hard-working local men. Many of the homegrown actors possess a surprisingly deep reserve of talent, and all are Lions Club members who donate their time to the fundraiser.

Scope and content: This collection consists of 526 black and white and color photographs, a note from Mr. Marc Chasse explaining the Minstrel Show before the Civil Rights movement, and a 1957 program for the Lions Show. The photographs are of the different skits performed by the members of the Fort Kent Lions Club for the Fort Kent Annual Pride of the Lions Show. Photographs are dated from 1947 to 2013. Many of the individuals have been identified by Marc Chasse but some have not been identified. Marc served as the Master of Ceremony for many years during this event.
