Provenance

This collection was created as part of an Administration for Native Americans (henceforth ANA) grant that would provide the Wesget Sipu with the resources to preserve their ancestral cultural heritage through genealogical and anthropological research on the Maliseet and Mi'kmaq (Maine Native American tribes) heritage as well as preserving their oral history. The organization's goal was to archive their records in the Acadian Archives at the University of Maine at Fort Kent, which has the dedicated staff, materials, and climate controlled space to preserve the materials.

Taken from the Wesget Sipu fact sheet, "The mission of the ANA is to promote the goal of self-sufficiency and cultural preservation for Native Americans by providing social and economic development opportunities through financial assistance training and technical assistance to eligible Tribes and Native American communities." The ANA is an agency within the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

The Wesget Sipu are based in Fort Kent, a small town in northern Maine along the Canadian border. Some of the materials in this collection such as photographs were taken at other locations in Maine or the provinces of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, Canada.

Collection Description

Historical and Biographical Information

The Wesget Sipu were a Fort Kent-based group whose members were descended from Mi'kmaq and Maliseet Native Americans. (Two of the five recognized Native American tribes in Maine.) The first recorded meetings of the organization were in 1998 and the last known activity was in 2019.

The Wesget Sipu have historically inhabited the waterways of Northern Maine in the St. John Valley area. The Mi'kmaq words Wesget Sipu translate to Fish River; one of the two rivers the Wesget Sipu lived along. In the late 2000s-early 2010s, the Wesget Sipu applied for federal recognition as a tribe to the Maine Bureau of Indian Affairs, but this request was not granted.

Scope and Content

This collection is divided into nine series: genealogical materials (restricted until 2097); programs/grant files; research notes; News releases/ legislative files on the tribal acknowledgement process; loose artifacts made by the Wesget Sipu; audiovisual memorabilia; photographs; separated materials (permanently restricted).

Arrangement

This collection is divided into 9 series: series 1 Genealogical materials; series 2 program/grant files; series 3 Research Notes; series 4 News releases/ Legislative files on the tribal acknowledgement process; series 5 Grant administrative files; series 6 Loose Artifacts made by the Wesget Sipu; series 7 Audiovisual memorabilia; series 8 Photographs; Series 9 Separated materials (Restricted)

Genealogical records are arranged alphabetically by last name, with some childrens' records filed with their parents' files. This familial interfiling was how the collection came to the Acadian Archives. Photographs are arranged numerically by the number written on their backs at time of donation.

*The archivist tried to keep the rest of the files arranged chronologically. While the archivist tried to keep the original order of this collection, this wasn't always possible and some folders were put into a series that made the most sense given the subject materials.

Separated Materials

Materials pertaining to two specific families in the tribe have been housed in their own series (that is housed with the rest of the collection) out of respect to the families' requests. These materials are permanently restricted from public use by Archives staff and have been labeled as such.
