Collection Description

Historical and Biographical Information
Galen Ouellette was born on May 11, 1949 to Adelord and Jullienne (Jandreau) Ouellette and was one of 11 children. He was an avid photographer, loved the outdoors, and was a member of the genealogy society. His family and religion were important to him. On January 20, 2017 he died in Fort Kent, ME after battling cancer. [Information taken from a Bangor Daily News obituary].

Don Raymond is a local to Fort Kent. He is a former registrar for UMFK, is involved in recording local events for the local news channel, WFKTV4, and teaches at the St. John Valley senior college. He donated the collection to the Acadian Archives after it was given to him.

Scope and Content
The majority of this collection is housed in the first series, which consists of digital copies of genealogical records and books copied onto CD/DVDs for electronic use. From glimpses of the contents, at least some, if not all of these dics will require software compatible with the software originally used to download the books to access their materials. Researchers interested in more information on specific discs can reach out to the Archives staff for more information.

The genealogical records contain birth, marriage, and death records from many towns and counties in the province of Québec, Canada as well as some regions of Northern and Central Maine and vital records from Massachusetts.

The second series is a historic album that documents the history and development of the twin cities of Lewiston and Auburn, Maine up to 1899 when it was published. The book was published by a local order of priests. Lewiston and Auburn, which are separated by the Androscoggin River, have a strong franco-American population as many Canadians migrated to these cities during the late 19th, early 20th century to work at the textile mills located along the river. This migration was also seen in many other New England towns such as Brunswick and Biddeford Maine and Lowell, Massachusetts.

Arrangement
This collection is divided into two series: Series 1: Genealogical Records and Series 2: ‘Album Historique’. The CDs/DVDs in the first series were left in the original order they were donated in as they appear to be grouped by city/town/county. The second series is only made up of one book that is housed in a folder and subsequently within a regular sized box with other small collections that only have one or two folders. However, this box has individual labels for each collection.

Separated Materials (If Applicable)
The St. Peter and St. Paul Parish ‘Album Historique’ (series II) is housed in a separate box from the A/V materials due to its size. This box is located in the UM section of the archives and labeled accordingly.
